"My paintings are designed to keep you in the moment of breathing. To fill the heart, open the mind, activate the body, allowing the spirit to move through on waves of color. As your perspective shifts so too does the painting. A continually expanding perspective is our natural dance with life. We are, each of us, destined to interact and create and the painting becomes our partner; a contemplative side note singing through our DNA out into the Universe the individualized voice of 'I AM'."
